Global Site sponsorship - persistent presence

Available to any business that wants large scale coverage across our website – hundreds of thousands of ad impressions per year guaranteed.

One off promotions - make an immediate impact

Page Sponsor

Utah diners, business travelers and tourists are searching every single day for critical information. Using one of our targeted site pages, we can prominently promote your business to qualified diners immediately. Do you rock breakfast like no one else? Are your burgers the bomb? Should you be the first and last destination for diners in your neighborhood?

Our page level sponsorships are aimed at businesses who have a clear message they want to communicate. As a Page Sponsor we will place information about your business at the very start of a targeted page. See some existing examples here:

Best brunch – Avenues Proper

Best brewpub – Desert Edge Pub

Best Mexican restaurants – Alamexo

Best Sugar House Restaurants - BGR

Page Sponsors can connect with highly targeted leads using a clear and concise message: we have exactly what you're searching for. We work with each Page Sponsor to showcase their business in the very best possible light. We can include any text or images that you like, which you can provide directly if you choose. We can also create the content and copy too.

As a free bonus option we can also implement interactive elements to your Page. A call to action to reinforce your brand message or drive diners to your doorstep. We can deploy popups, drop downs, slide ins and more - tailored to your specific needs.

We can display trackable coupons, offers and promotions. We can create email lead generation forms that ask for a readers name and email address. This in turn can connect to your own email lead generation system. As a Page Sponsor we can create a range of animations, graphics and sound effects to hook a user's attention. These can be as dramatic or as subtle as you like. These can be triggered by anything from the time the reader stays on the page to how far down the the page they scroll. Just ask us for more info.

These pages are some of our most popular pages on our website and visited by 1000's and 1000's of people looking for actionable information. Demand for placement on these pages is very high, book your spot today.

Social blast

Lets us put all our channels to work for you and generate maximum awareness. Our social blast options are great for one off promotional items you want to communicate with our readers and followers. Over the past decade we've helped small businesses through International brands communicate their message with a local Utah audience. Blasts can help to promote:

- * Grand opening events
- * Local or regional product launches of a national brand
- * Contests, giveaways and competitions
- * Promotional pricing or coupons
- * One off events within Utah
- * Special appearances or celebrities
- * Announcements
- * National brand exposure at a local level

Your message will be communicated through all our channels including Instagram, Facebook and Twitter reaching thousands of engaged followers.

One off profile piece

Want us to drop what we're doing, come down to your business and create a memorable profile piece? Want us to share that via our site, our social platforms and communicate with thousands of local foodies? Through our profile pieces we try to get to the heart of a business through award winning writing and photography. Our profile pieces transcend one off social media posts that are gone with the scroll of a finger.

Our profile pieces are 1,000 word minimum long form articles with professional photography of your business, space, cuisine and staff. Profile pieces are perfect for:

- * New business launches
- * Menu updates
- * Concept changes
- * Staffing changes

We can typically turn around profile pieces within five working days. Please note restaurants are expected to provide access to key staff and provide food for photography. Some examples of our profile pieces, writing and photography can be seen here:

Why work with Gastronomic SLC?

We know that you're inundated by different offers to grow your business. Local influencers, national websites, local press, SEO and PR companies; we know how many companies are chasing your limited marketing dollars. We like to think we're a little different, here's why.

Traditional media is vanishing

One by one, print publications are falling by the wayside. Even in San Francisco, food criticism is floundering as media institutions can't fund their legacy cost structures.

The same is happening here as well, just cast your eye across any mainstream print publication and look at the depth and quality of the information about the local food scene. Without a strong independent platform with engaged readers, no one will be telling the story of the food scene in Utah. This leaves fragmented and non local platforms such as Facebook and Yelp to tell your story.

Professional, respected journalism

We've been at this for more than a decade winning critical awards along the way. Search for us in Google News, you'll find our stories right there alongside other respected publications. Search for other food blogs that don't have our history and respect – do you see them in Google News?

Broad reach

Gastronomic Salt Lake City reaches Utahns across a diverse set of channels. Here on the website we serve up thousands of pages each and every week. Other publications might quote higher numbers, but do you know what their readers are actually looking for and reading on their site? We write about nothing but the food and beverage scene – every reader that hits our site is exceptionally targeted and after one thing: food and drink info.

Social media

On social media we're active on three major platforms: Facebook, Twitter and Instagram. On each of those platforms we have a strong following with zero paid followers. Each and every one of our 16,000+ followers has opted to hear what we say.

You might find an Instagram user with more followers, but ask yourself, who are those followers? Are they local Utahns, are they real? Moreover, how engaged is that personality on other platforms? Will they be here in a years time, what about five?

Responsive and persistent

Using our social media channels and website we can help you tell a story in as timely a fashion as you want. Have something special going on right now? Print media has lead times that prevent them from supporting businesses in an ultra time specific fashion.

Moreover, our content is persistent on the web. A story we publish today might be ready 100s and 1000s of time over the coming months and years. That's in stark contrast to radio, TV or print that's a one time shot at a readers attention.

Support local

Many businesses sing the virtues of supporting local, we think this applies to the media too, a business like any other. By supporting a strong, local press, you're helping to grow local business. We don't write about chain restaurants, we actively write about independent restaurants first and foremost.

Technically adept

Gastronomic Salt Lake City is built on a technically solid foundation. We know what SEO, CTR RSS and Google AMP mean, we understand and present news for the mobile web. We're not playing catchup, we're usually at the forefront of technological adoption and change.

Asymmetrical marketing

We offer a diverse array of channels to communicate brand messages. Instagram accounts we manage: Gastronomic SLC, Utah Burger, SLC Menu, New In Utah, Utah Brunch, Meat Free SLC, plus several others.

Websites we manage: GastronomicSLC.com, UtahNow.online, SLCMenu.com, ShopSmart.guide, TheUtahReview.com

Michael Feldman

Owner, Feldman's Deli

Gastronomic SLC has a long track record of understanding Utah, and particularly, the Salt Lake City cuisine scene. The site keeps the community informed with what is new, what has changed, and what is trending. It has been very supportive of the owners, who have poured their hearts, souls and cash, into creating unique places to thrill your palates and taste buds, while giving readers an insider's look into what it takes to be successful within our growing culinary critical mass, motivating patrons to search out all that is great about dining here.

Gastronomic Salt Lake City talks about one thing, and one thing only: the local food scene. Our website traffic is completely driven by people wanting to explore the local food scene, locals and travelers alike.

Compare our site and traffic to other local media that has a mixed message; are the traffic and reader numbers being quoted by other publications all related to the food scene?
